Rivard's Pal Free On Bail

MONTREAL (CP)—Eddy Lechasseur, 35, an associate of the elusive Lucien Rivard, was granted freedom on $10,000 bail Tuesday on a charge of possessing an offensive weapon. He was refused bail Saturday when he appeared before Judge Jean Teller after police found a blackjack in his home during a raid last Friday.

He pleaded not guilty Saturday and trial was set for March 19. The bail was granted Tuesday by Mr. Justice Claude Prevost of superior court. Crown Prosecutor Louis-Philippe Landry objected to the granting of bail, but the defence argued Lechasseur is facing a technical charge and that having a blackjack at home in a dresser drawer does not constitute possession of an offensive weapon in a manner dangerous to public peace.

New Weapon For Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — New Canadian destroyers will be equipped with a newly-developed, deep-diving torpedo which can find and hit fast-running nuclear submarines, informed sources said today. The torpedo is the American Mark 46 which has recently gone into production in California for the United States Navy. It will be carried by at least four Canadian destroyers on which construction will start in 1966 and possibly by the RCN's Argus maritime patrol plane and naval Sea King helicopters.

Officials rate the new torpedo as the first weapon able to cope effectively with the nuclear submarine. It has longer range and better guidance and can dive deeper than torpedoes now in use with the Canadian navy and air force.

Strong Support On Johnson Bill

Police in Toronto Crush Sit-In Bid

TORONTO (CP) — Police kicked and threw sit-in demonstrators back to the sidewalk today when 300 persons tried to storm the front steps outside the United States consulate. More than 100 students marched or camped outside the consulate Monday night. Many broke into shouts and tears when told of news of the beating in Montgomery, Ala., of a Negro and white marchers. A spokesman for the sit-in's organizers, the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, said the demonstrators were considering sending a busload of volunteers to Selma and a more "militant" demonstration involving the blocking off of all entrances to the consulate of President Johnson does not send troops into Alabama. Protests were also staged by students and clergymen in Montreal, London, Ont., Winnipeg and Calgary.

But Move On Negroes' Voting May Be Met With Filibuster

WASHINGTON (CP) — Swift passage of legislation which will give all Americans equal voting rights in national, state and local elections was urged passionately by President Johnson Monday night. "The time for waiting is gone," he said in a televised appearance before both Houses of Congress. "The cries of pain, and the hymns and protests of oppressed people" must be answered without delay, hesitation or compromise, he declared. He told the crowded chamber of the House of Representatives that last week's violence at Selma, Ala., where state troopers used billy clubs and tear gas to halt a march by demonstrators on behalf of Negro civil rights, was "a turning point in man's unending search for freedom." His proposals drew strong support from both Democrats and Republicans in Congress, but some southerners threatened to fight them with filibuster. While Johnson was explicit about the voting and other injustices faced by the 20,000,000 United States Negroes, he was also emphatic in calling for legislation

Okanagan communities must be prepared to work together and forget inter-city rivalries if they are ever to have a regional college in the valley, said Okanagan Regional College Committee chairman Frank Venables today. The recommendations of Professor F. T. Giles on the site of a regional college in the Okanagan will be released Thursday. "Every previous effort to reach agreement on a site has met with failure," said Mr. Venables. Five Main Objectives Outlined: Southern State Varied Views

He announced Saturday after receiving segregationist governor George Wallace of Alabama that he was acting on the bill. The bill would do five main things: 1. Set simple uniform standards of voting eligibility across the U.S. "which can be used however ingenious the efforts to flout the constitution." 2. Wipe out restrictions on voting in all elections. 3. Provide for voting registration through federal officials if state registrars refuse to cooperate. 4. Eliminate "tedious, unnecessary lawsuits which delay the right to vote. Numbers of these are still going on." 5. Ensure properly registered citizens immunity from any prosecutions on voting. Johnson said the battle for equal rights for Negroes was against it.

Direction From Federal Judge Permits Huge Selma Homage

SELMA (AP)—An order from a federal judge permitted almost 4,000 persons, including many clergymen, to march on the Dallas County courthouse Monday for a memorial service honoring a Boston minister, Rev. James Reeb, slain after he came south to join the civil rights drive. The eight-block march brought to an end a prayer vigil which had continued in the streets of Selma since last Wednesday when police halted an attempted march on the courthouse. Negro leaders mapped plans today to resume their tear-gas-delayed highway march to Montgomery, capital of this state. They claim they have denied them voting and other rights. Standing in the way of the 50-mile march is a federal judge's injunction, plus state and county officers. A hearing is under way now in Montgomery in the judge's court on whether to permit the march. Governor George C. Wallace says he will abide by the court's decision.

Negro leaders planned to wait until after the judge's ruling before setting a new date for the march to Montgomery.

THEN GIRLS PUT BEST FOOT FORWARD

Soviet Jet Starts Song and Dance

MONTREAL (CP) — A huge Russian T-114 airliner arrived in Montreal today with the Molisev dance company and immediately created a kingly head-tie for airport officials. They couldn't find a debarking ramp big enough to accommodate the 190-ton jet-propelled plane, described as the world's largest. For almost an hour, the 110 dancers and musicians and 50 crates of costumes and sets were trapped inside the plane. After hurried conference and some scurrying about, the problem was solved by attaching a four-foot stepladder to the top of a regular ramp. This two-piece improvised unit was attached to the plane's exit door. The Russian girls, about 50 of them, had to put their best foot forward, but they made it safely to the tarmac without mishap. The troupe opens its third North American tour at Montreal's Place des Arts Friday for a week here. The dancers will be at Winnipeg March 27-28; Edmonton March 29-30; Vancouver April 1-4; Toronto May 11-13; and later at Ottawa, Quebec and Halifax. Their tour will also take them to United States cities. About the Soviet craft were two Russian-speaking Canadian filmmen, Fil-Lent, Edward R. Wolkojycki of Tiny, Sask., and Fil-Lent, B. R. Chubuly of Hubbard, Sask.

Theories In "Quiet Revolution"
Argued At Quebec Meeting

MONTREAL (CP)—Two political theories born of the Quiet Revolution in Quebec—socialism and republicanism—were argued in detail today before the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

Swift evolution toward an independent socialist republic in Quebec was advocated by La Presse Etudiante Nationale, grouping editors of 107 French-language student newspapers.

Les Chevaliers de Champlain (Knights of Champlain) social clubs with 2,000 French-speaking members in Quebec and four other provinces, called in for a completely new constitution providing for two nearly independent "associate states"—Quebec and the nine English-speaking provinces.

The student editors said in their brief that bilingualism is a "dangerous Utopia," a myth, and an obstacle to the development of a national culture in Quebec.

Under the present constitution, the provinces were "colonies" of the federal government. The French Canadians of Quebec had all the attributes of a national state except freedom of education and social welfare.

The students said Quebec would withdraw from all shared resort to violence to achieve independence with the federal government if the "hostile" federal government.

Opposition Fails
In Pensions Bid

OTTAWA (CP)—A combined Opposition failed Monday night with a half-hearted attempt to force an immediate reduction of the qualifying age for old age security payments to 65.

The government kept its members in or near the Commons for much of the daily sitting and in late evening won approval in an 85-57 vote, of Prime Minister Pearson's proposal to lower the age level from 70 over a five-year period.

The Commons had earlier approved a clause in the Canada Pension Plan bill to reduce the age to 65, and Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) argued that an immediate five-year reduction could be forced by defeating the subsequent clause setting out the procedure.

After the amendment was carried the clause as amended was approved 81 to 52.

U.S. IMMEDIATE CUT
Several members proposed an immediate reduction without the five-year interval but when it came time for voting the Opposition ranks were thin.

Under the amended clause, the $75 flat-rate benefit—currently available to all persons 70 and over—will next year be available at age 69. The age level will be reduced by one year annually until full benefits are payable at age 65 in 1970.

The votes came as a clause-by-clause debate of the mammoth 125-part bill setting up a contributory pension plan continued for a 15th day.

Only three clauses were left at adjournment time Monday night but Gerard Perron (Conservative—Beauce) indicated his party will have many more questions to ask today.

Another amendment approved Monday removes from the Old Age Security Act a much-criticized provision that persons applying for the flat-rate pension must live in Canada for a full year before applying.

SETS 40-YEAR TOTAL
The change will make the benefit payable to persons who live in Canada a total of 40 years after their 18th birthday.

Health Minister J. D. Laing said the change will help those now living abroad but who spent most of their lives in this country.

J. Waldo Montath (PC—Perth), who was health minister in the Diefenbaker administration was critical of the change.

The opposition parties were also critical of the method for increasing the flat-rate pension in future.

Extend Your Hand To The Helping Hand

This is Red Cross Month in Canada, the month the people of Canada extend their hand to the helping hand of the unfortunate.

Kelowna has never failed to measure up to its responsibilities in the annual drive for funds. This year, similar to many years past, the quota is $111,000.

The average, normal, healthy human comes into contact with the Red Cross very little, but at unfortunate strike and often the Red Cross is the only agency set up to help.

In this day and age few people go under the surgeon's knife without having a blood transfusion of some sort. Blood is normally sold at $45 a pint in hospitals not served by the Red Cross blood bank and many patients are given transfusions measured in quarts. (One person we know, recently had 11!).

Illness is sufficiently expensive without adding the cost of a blood transfusion. Canada is unique in its blood transfusion service, no one has to pay. The Red Cross supplies it.

True, the blood is donated at clinics, but the costs of drawing the blood, keeping it in a bank and delivering it when needed to the doctor's side is large. That cost comes out of the annual drive for funds.

Who is equipped to look after a family that loses its home and all its belongings in a fire? No one but the Red Cross and they have depots set up in all major centres just to look after that emergency. A number of families in the Kelowna district received aid from that source this past year.

There are innumerable services rendered each year to people of all walks of life, services that will not be available if we do not meet our financial quota this month.

The sickroom loan cupboard is one of the most active departments in Kelowna. People who are ill at home can obtain any type of sickroom equipment they need by simply calling a telephone number. No one wants to buy a wheelchair, a pair of crutches, or a special bed if they are only going to use the item for a short while. The Red Cross will provide.

The women's workroom is a spot where weekly work is done by many volunteers. They make dressings, swabs and other hospital supplies for shipment all over the world. The raw material comes from your donation.

Often the Red Cross in Kelowna is called upon to locate relatives of people in trouble and they are equipped to do it now, for now is when the need is greatest.

Red Cross workers are a staunch clan, but they must have some money to aid them in helping others.

OTTAWA WINTER CARNIVAL

Small Fortune Extracted Out of Older Memories

LONDON (CP)—Sandy Wilson is a young man who has spun a small fortune out of his memories of the 1920s. In the process he has infected people even younger than he with nostalgia for an era they never knew.

In 1953, as a struggling actor-writer of 29, he wrote, "more or less as a private joke," an affectionate spoof of a 1920s musical comedy called The Boy Friend. It was put on with a shoestring budget at London's Players Theatre Club and overnight mushroomed to fame.

Produced in the West End in January, 1954, it won rave reviews, ran for five years and launched a tidal wave of Roaring Twenties fashions, songs, dances and revivals. It became the first British musical since the war to win acclaim on Broadway and later successfully toured Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Mexico, Sweden, Finland and southern Africa.

This fall it gets its first production in France. In Wilson's phrase the show made the 1920s "chic" after years of being thought merely ludicrous. It has enabled him to live in comfort over the last decade — the show is played somewhere almost every day — and to move successfully from the "rather peculiar basement in Swiss Cottage" where he wrote it to the much more fashionable neighboring district of Hampstead and later to a high-ceilinged, paneled first-floor apartment in a Victorian house in smart south Kensington.

Now, 11 years after that first astounding success, he has tried to repeat the magic formula with Divorce Me, Darling, a pastiche of a 1920s musical complete with tap dancing in the Astaire and Rogers manner, echoes of Cole Porter, Noel Coward and Marlene Dietrich and a feathery story of terribly, terribly English types disporting themselves on the naughty French Riviera.

Winning loud acclaim from an enthusiastic first-night audience was Vancouver-born Philip Gilbert, a handsome, lanky actor playing a stuff-upturned romantic lead in the style made famous by Noel Coward. Gilbert won several awards in Canada for Shakespearean acting before coming to Britain 15 years ago.

But if the audience liked the show, some of the critics were harsh. The idea doesn't come off as neatly as its predecessor. For one thing the characters are all the same as in The Boy Friend, 10 years older, and consequently the play is very much of an impulse for theatregoers who remember the gags and complicated relationships of the earlier show.

Also as several critics noted, the 1950s were such a bizarre mixture of memories that it's hard for any show to distill the essence — there were hunger marches and Hitler as well as the flying fleet of Astaire, the Spanish civil war and breadlines in New York as well as the torrent of rich melodies, the wondrous movies, the elegant chifon evening gowns and the sophisticated lyrics of You're the Top.

Wilson himself confesses that he doesn't feel the same affection for the 1920s as he does for the era he was born in. "Admittedly I don't remember all that much about the 1920s since I was born in 1924, but I had two older sisters who were always going to parties and playing records on the gramophone. I grew up to those wonderful tunes from No. 9, Vandyke, Hit the Deck, The Girl Friend and the rest. It was a time of great nostalgia for me."

It was different in the thirties. There were all kinds of depressing things going on in the background, fascism and the rise of Hitler. Wilson, a slight, dark man with a tinge of melancholy in his face and a springy dancer's walk, doesn't mind being tagged a pedlar of nostalgia. He says it's simply what he enjoys doing most. Between The Boy Friend and Divorce Me, Darling, he wrote two musicals of a different type. Neither hit the jackpot.

He prepares for his "period" musicals by soaking himself in atmosphere—combing the British Museum's newspaper library at Colindale in north London, studying original librettos and theatre magazines, listening to old recordings, inspiration for dresses and some dance routines comes from old copies of Vogue magazine, whose models were often photographed in characteristic poses of the period.

When a woman is substantially overweight to begin with, it is possible (and preferable) for her to limit her gain to something less than 20 pounds. The difference is (or should be) that she eat foods that will provide for the baby's needs, at the same time using up some of her stored fat, which represents her overweight.

Excessive overweight in pregnancy also contributes to foot troubles, varicose veins, angling of abdominal muscles and other things you'd rather avoid. Dear Dr. Molner: Our son, 30, was hospitalized four weeks with nephritis. For two months since then he has been under heavy medication, including cortisone, and now has developed diabetes. Could you give us some information regarding this? MRS. R. T. J.

The developing baby naturally must have considerable nourishment—plenty of calcium, adequate protein as a building food, plus the various minerals and vitamins which, happily, are not difficult to provide. A normal, well-balanced diet, with perhaps a modest supplement of vitamins to be on the safe side, will do this.

The baby does NOT need to store up excessive fat. It shouldn't, in fact, because a big baby often means more difficult delivery. (A big baby—over nine pounds—also is often a danger sign indicating that the mother has a predisposition toward diabetes.)

So if the expectant mother eats so much that she adds to her own natural weight besides the normal gain of pregnancy, she isn't doing herself or the baby any good. She is simply storing excess calories (virtually always from too much sugar, starch and fat in the diet) in the form of fat in her own body. In short, the proper diet is one which provides the things the baby needs but does not (except for a rather narrow margin) add anything to the mother's own body structure.

VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

"Filibustering" Accusations Fly

By JAMES E. NEBBITT

The 1965 session had pretty well bogged down by the time of March, and, despite the full glory of spring in this beautiful island capital by the Pacific sea, it appears that March 19 as procrastination day is only wishful thinking. However, by dint of midnight oil it could happen.

Everybody in the House accuses everybody else of filibustering. The Social Credit side says oppositionists are deliberately delaying progress, playing politics instead. Oppositionists say cabinet ministers, instead of boldly answering questions, get up and make long speeches, thereby playing politics. It's the cabinet that's filibustering say the oppositionists.

Nerves wear thin after the House has been sitting seven weeks. M.L.A.s get jumpy and tired and bored, are given to reading insults between the lines. But sometimes they manage to get done what must be done, ponderous and weighty and codified as is the machinery of government and legislative. Let anyone try and moderate—such as cutting out the quite useless throne speech and budget debates—and he's looked upon as a fanatical revolutionary who should be locked up as an enemy of the land.

The government, in time-honored fashion, rushes in last-minute legislation, making oppositionists' heads spin round in a whirl. They sit back helplessly, waving their hands to their perishing throats. A lot of this legislation is minor, and the same could be accomplished much more quickly by order-in-council, but if there's too much of that, the oppositionists scream that we're living under a dictatorship.

"Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to present a Message from His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor," intones cabinet minister after cabinet minister in the dying hours. This means Message Bill is being introduced, that's a sign to everybody that if such a bill should be defeated the government is defeated. Then and there, right on the floor of the House and a provincial general election must follow immediately. This has happened in B.C. only once in 50 years—in 1953.

Before a Message Bill is brought in, it is carefully debated in government caucus. Behind locked and guarded doors, the government supporters express their opinions, pro and con, so that, in public, in the full glare of the legislative chamber itself, they present a bold front. This is the only efficient way to govern; any other way would lead to chaos and nothing would ever get done.

The government has so far this session taken several of Social Credit's now famous second looks. Some people say that shows government weakness, but lawyer and constitutional scholar Alex Macdonald, N.D.P. member for Vancouver East gave it to me as his opinion that, on the contrary, it shows government strength.

This year, too, M.L.A.s without asking you, the people, their losses on their salaries up another $1,500 to $2,000 a year, and perhaps that's why they're making a long-drawn-out struggle of this session—as proof that they're really earned it, exhausting themselves in the process, so that everyone in B.C. may lead the better life.

Polygamy May Be Doomed In Modern Moslem World

CAIRO (AP)—Time may be running out for polygamy in the Moslem world.

"God originally permitted polygamy to help Moslems solve many problems that could not be solved otherwise," says Sheikh Abu Zahra, "but a Moslem was required to have strong reasons to commit polygamy. Lust is not a sufficient reason."

Moslems generally are permitted four wives. Abu Zahra, professor of Islamic law at Cairo University, is spokesman for a group that advocates new interpretations of the Koran.

"Polygamists will be surprised and dismayed when doomsday strikes," he said. "God will tell them then that they have been abusing his laws and they will end up in hell. So I warn you—get rid of your extra wives."

Abu Zahra says misinterpretation of the Koranic laws has given the Moslem religion "a most grotesque and invalid vogue and popularity."

"You may take an extra wife of wives only if your wife is crippled, barren or too sick to live up to her conjugal duties," he says.

As of now, Abu Zahra's thesis amounts to no more than an individual belief, given much prominence in the local press. But if his views are adopted by the conclaves of Al-Azhar, Islam's most respected religious seminary, some 15 per cent of Egypt's married population may face the charge of adultery.

It is unlikely that President Gamal Abdel Nasser's secular government will adopt such far-reaching views overnight and polygamists should be safe, as far as state laws are concerned, for the time being.

Actually, polygamy has long been an economic impossibility for most people in Egypt. Prices are skyrocketing and costs of marriage and support are more than most people can afford.

Paradoxically, polygamy is most widespread among those who can't afford it. Educated Egyptians appear to be more cautious.

The Nasser administration recently awoke to the threat of overpopulation and by a new law limited the number of children responsible. Official figures indicate Egypt's population will more than double within the next 30 years.

Nasser has not directly attacked established religious rules, but has named a special committee to solve the problem of over-population.

Tourism Now Big Business But English Hotels Not Improved

LONDON (CP)—Riding high on the crest of last year's Shakespeare celebrations and vintage summer, Britain's tourist industry has never looked in better shape.

In 1963 foreign visitors spent £139,000,000 in this country and contributed £200,000,000 to British carriers in fares. The figures for 1964, not yet completed, are expected to reach record heights.

Tourism, in fact, now ranks as Britain's fourth largest earner of U.S. dollars.

Yet there is a strong feeling in some quarters that as far as British hotel-keepers are concerned, the tourist business is strictly a case of how to succeed without really trying.

Hotels in Britain have long had a bad press, mainly because they were slower to break out of the strait-jacket of post-war austerity than their counterparts on the continent. For years shortages of food, fuel and staff were made the excuse for dreary, unvaried cooking, grudging service, dim decorations, inadequate heating and a host of restrictive rules more suited to a student's hostel than a hotel.

Most people agree there has been dramatic improvement in the last decade, but occasionally the old criticisms spurt out. One such spate occurred recently in editorial columns after Britain's two national organizations devoted seven of the 10 top hotels that had held the top five-star rating in their annual touring guides to the provinces.

Famous British resorts, tell the draught, Bournemouth lost two of its three five-star ratings; Torquay and Eastbourne one each of their previous two; Harrogate, the once-fashionable Yorkshire spa, its solitary accolade.

A spokesman for the Automobile Association and Royal Automobile Club, which in 1963 pruned nearly half the four-star ratings in their guides, explained the downgraded hotels had failed to measure up to the "more exacting requirements" that had grown up among the motoring public in the last 10 years.

The AA and RAC inspectors singled out particularly the lack of private bathrooms. Other necessities for de luxe status include central heating throughout, 24-hour laundry and dry-cleaning service, hairdressing salons for men and women.

An independent survey published simultaneously by a group of sanitary equipment manufacturers also slammed inadequate bathing facilities, disclosing that on average there was only one bathroom for every seven sleepers in British hotels, though polls show three want private bathing facilities.

Amid a storm of protest from hoteliers who feel the grading system is unfair, editorial writers were soon in there punching on the whole subject of hotel service in Britain.

The Daily Telegraph thought part of the trouble was the easy-going British temperament, for inclined to suffer the second-rate in silence. "As a nation we are too tolerant of slovenly cooking and discourteous service."

The Evening Standard said the quality of too many British hotels has remained static while continental rivals had forged ahead.

The Guardian said with cold realism: "In an uncertain climate, comfortable, well-run hotels are of first importance. . . . Too many visitors come to Britain only because some airline lands them here or because they have some business to transact before they hurry on to more hospitable lands. Behind the bookening counters there often lies a blank wall of indifference."

BIBLE BRIEF

"A wise son heareth his father's instructions, but a fool refuseth rebuke." Proverbs 13:1

A child who is above instruction is often on the road to correction. He who listens well lives better and learns much.

The Ides of March

The Ides of March have come and gone and passed without any great untoward incident — at least any incident greater than those which appear on any day of the calendar these tense days.

"Beware the Ides of March" is the warning it is reputed was given by the Soothsayer to Caisus Julius Caesar on the 14th of March, 44 B.C. At least Shakespeare in his play Julius Caesar attributes this warning to the Roman Emperor. Whether or not there were strange signs and portents the night before Caesar met his tragic end is not recorded in history.

Caesar was a great man in the world of his time and his loss was a staggering one and there is no wonder that ancients regarded the Ides with superstitious fear.

Regardless of the fact that yesterday was the 15th day of March, and therefore the Ides, there are many disturbing happenings in Canada's world and in the Free World. Fiery figures of men are said to have walked the streets of Rome, solitary birds flew over the Forum and strange lights appeared in the sky accompanied by nocturnal noises. These signs would not trouble the people of the world of today, for the reason that they have become accustomed to vapor trails crossing the sky from horizon to horizon accompanied by the roaring breathing of jet planes.

Today's world is restless and fearful, but not in fear of the Ides of March, but because there have been fearful and awful inventions of man, and because nations which for long years have been more or less dormant have taken new life and energy and no one knows where or what the next move will be.

March is a lengthening month, longer hours of daylight and shorter hours of darkness. It is known as the borrowing or borrowed month, in that in the revision of the calendar, March stole three days from April. It is known in Devonshire as the month of Blind Days, during which no farmer would sow grain and no one would commence a risky venture.

The word Ides is of unknown origin probably connected with Sanskrit and "under the moon". Now that man is shooting at the moon and hitting it right on the nose at the predicted hour and minute we are perhaps not as superstitious with respect to the heavenly bodies as were ancient men. Man has photographed the moon from a few miles distance and we know that its surface is uninviting and forbidding. We look at the moon with this knowledge but back in the days about which Shakespeare wrote the astronomer and the soothsayer were pertinent forces in the lives of people.

Canadian workers lose an estimated 500,000,000 (M) working hours each year, most of them through accident or illness. The Health League of Canada is fighting to diminish this startling toll through its industrial health programme.

Canadians are paying more than $120,000,000 (M) annually for dental bills. This figure could be cut drastically by fluoridating the nation's water supplies. Help the Health League of Canada in its campaign to wipe out the problem of dental decay through fluoridation.

A total of 6,136 cases of whooping cough were reported throughout Canada during 1963—all of them preventable through immunization. Another 123 Canadians developed paralytic polio during the year and 76 cases of diphtheria were contracted. More than 6,300 Canadians suffered needlessly because they had not been immunized against these diseases.

Diseases—most of them preventable—killed 5,692 Canadian youngsters under the age of 10 during 1962. And 4,016 of these children were between the ages of one and four.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Eating For Two Should Be Watched

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the proper amount of weight to gain in pregnancy? — MRS. J. C.

About 20 pounds is generally regarded as a good average. Less is preferred by some obstetricians. Staying within that amount means a healthier baby, usually an easier delivery, a more comfortable woman during the months of pregnancy, and a much easier job of getting one's figure back to normal afterward.

When a woman begins to pack on weight which will require 20 pounds by delivery time, she usually (although not always) is one who has been eating more than she needs, and already has a tendency toward plumpness or obesity.

It's not always easy to persuade a woman to control her weight at such a time. She wants to eat, she isn't as active as she has been in the past, and she very frequently deceives herself and tries to deceive others with an argument that she is "eating for two."

She is, of course, eating for two. But there's a difference between that and overeating for two. The developing baby naturally must have considerable nourishment—plenty of calcium, adequate protein as a building food, plus the various minerals and vitamins which, happily, are not difficult to provide. A normal, well-balanced diet, with perhaps a modest supplement of vitamins to be on the safe side, will do this.

ANN LANDERS

Ann Says "Hooray" For Discreet Doctor

Dear Ann Landers: Martha's street corner passing out campaign literature. It was very undignified. I was with some influential people and he called me by name.

What do you think of this, Ann Landers? — MISS G. L. Dear Miss: I think if more young people would stand on street corners and pass out campaign material instead of just sitting in bars and passing out, this country would be in better shape.

I thought about it all the next day and became increasingly concerned about Martha's health. I decided to telephone her physician (who is also our family doctor) in the hope that he would tell me it was nothing serious, and relieve my mind.

Well, Ann, I've never been so hurt in my life. The doctor told me to mind my own business and that under no circumstances would he discuss a patient's condition with a third party. I think he hung up on me.

Why would a person be ashamed of having an operation? And why was the doctor so rude when I was merely inquiring about the welfare of a friend? — CHOPPED DOWN.

Dear Chopped: If Martha had wanted to give you any information about her surgery she would have volunteered it. Pressing for details was in hideous taste.

If the doctor laid you out like a Persian rug I say "Hooray" for him. Trying to pump him for information — and disguising the question as "concern" — was gauche and stupid.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 23, and a graduate student. My father is the conservative type, financially and politically, and we've had some bitter arguments over our differences.

Last Fall I was active during the presidential campaign and I met some interesting young people at headquarters. One young man in particular caught my eye and I have been dating him ever since. My father loathes Don because he favors everything my father is against.

Last night my father said Don had embarrassed him during the campaign and that he wouldn't soon forget it. When I asked how, he said, "When I was leaving the club, that bleeding heart of yours was standing on the HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was a time when the North American Indian considered the western movie set his last preserve. But now he says the make-up man can give anybody "red skin."

MAKE-UP CAN GIVE ANYONE RED SKIN

The Los Angeles Indian Center called a press conference Thursday to complain that Caucasians and "foreigners of Mexican and African descent" are running the North American Indian out of filmdom.

A reporter suggested that if persons of Mexican descent could go Indian, then Indians could go Latin. "Do you think that's possible?" actor Raven Gray Eagle was asked. "Si," he replied.

Hairpins And "Curlers" Prove Incompatible On Ice Surface

TORONTO (CP) — Hairpins and curlers, always closely associated in the boudoir, came together disastrously on the ice in the opening round of the national mixed curling championships Monday night.

A hairpin cost Nova Scotia's curlers, as they were defeated by the curlers of Halifax, an important sport and may have been responsible for an 8-6 loss to Manitoba in the 11-round, round-robin tournament.

Leading the defending champion Winnipeg rink, skipped by Ernie Bouby, 32, in the sixth end without last rocks, Nova Scotia's attempted guard suddenly stopped dead about 15 feet outside the house.

Underneath was the hairpin, which probably ruined Piper's chances of stealing the end. Bouby collected two instead of one and took control of the game.

Bruma Columbia skipped by Fred Thibault of Vancouver, Alberta's Lee Green of Calgary, Saskatchewan's Grant Bouby of Regina, and Bouby all won their opening games along with Ontario's Ray Grant of Unionville.

EXPERIENCE PAID

Experience paid off for British Columbia in its 8-5 win over New Brunswick, Peterson, who has been curling less than five years, needed one stone in the final end to tie the match.

Thibault, who has been curling more than 40 years, placed his final two rocks on the front of the 12-foot ring, just being the Saskatchewan's Grant Bouby of Regina, and Bouby all won their opening games along with Ontario's Ray Grant of Unionville.

Pirates "Elated" With Play Of "Rejuvenated" Backstop

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

For Hank Aaron, there's an operation. For Juan Marichal, there's rejuvenation. But for Del Crandall, there's rejuvenation.

Pittsburgh Pirates undoubtedly were more elated over that line score Monday than the other two teams involved—Milwaukee Braves and San Francisco Giants.

While the Braves learned that Aaron will have to undergo surgery on his left ankle and the Giants' Marichal suffered a hamstring muscle pull in his right leg, Crandall ignited a 14-run Pirate inning with a single and followed with two more in his five-inning workout.

Aaron planned to fly to Milwaukee today and will have the operation Wednesday. After doctors remove an area of inflammation in the tendon, the Braves are slumped will have to rest for two or three weeks before rejoining the team.

Marichal, who missed nearly a month last year because of a back ailment en route to a 21-8 record, was running in the outfield when he hurt his leg. Trainer Frank Bowman applied ice to it for an hour and said the injury will slow down his preparations for a couple of days.

The 35-year-old Crandall, acquired by the Pirates from the Giants for protection behind the plate, erupted as Pittsburgh's third straight exhibition triumph.

The 13-year veteran, who has batted only 201 and 231 the last two seasons rapped the first of 12 Pirate hits in the seventh inning. He added another single later in the inning and belted a third in the two-run eighth.

New York Yankees edged Minnesota Twins 4-3 Monday with Tom Tresh's two-run homer a key blow. Philadelphia Phillies finally scored a run, nipping New York Mets 1-0.

Tommy Davis tripled across two runs in Los Angeles Dodgers' 4-1 victory over Houston Astros while Tony Conigliaro drove in five runs, three on a 9-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

Cincinnati Reds stopped St. Louis Cardinals 8-4 behind homers by Frank Robinson and Tony Perez. Milwaukee defeated Baltimore Orioles 4-2 on Mack Jones' two-run homer in the ninth inning and Kansas City Athletics nipped Detroit Tigers 3-4 as Ken Harrelson eluded a two-run homer in the eighth.

Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the 11th for a 5-3 triumph over Chicago Cubs, and homers by Bob Rodgers and Gino Cimoli led another Angels' squad to a 5-2 decision over Monterrey in Mexico.

Somewhere I've heard or read "a true measure of one's worth is through a child's eyes," or something to that effect. Well, Hebert's worth to the club and the fans was brought home by that spontaneous chorus from those little guys and gals, many of whom strained their necks peering into the tunnel to the change rooms, looking for a "highly-rated" Buck to return to action.

These little fellows take in every word and deed. Therefore, whether each Buckaroo knows it or not, he has a serious responsibility. He can help steer these youngsters in a healthy direction or he can contribute something perhaps unwittingly to their shortcomings.

Someone remarked recently that Don Hebert was so terribly underrated. Hardly had the echo died when the whole peanut section at the arena began chanting "we want Hebert". This was late in the second period Sunday after the durable defenceman skated off the ice with a knee injury. As he hobbled off toward the dressing room many loyal hearts sank in despair fearing what his loss might mean to the club.

Baseball Meets At Rutland

RUTLAND—The executive of the Rutland Minor Baseball Association met recently and made some tentative plans for the coming season.

Yankees' Loss Orioles' Joy

MIAMI (AP) — One of the reasons for the success of New York Yankees through the years is their uncanny judgment of players, especially youngsters. They rarely lose a good prospect.

But there may be an exception in the case of Curt Bleary, a 21-year-old Brooklyn-born bonus boy the New York brass lost to Baltimore Orioles for $8,000.

That was two years ago. Today the six-foot-two, 195-pound outfielder is the most cherished rookie in the Orioles camp and manager Hank Bauer is spreading the red carpet for him in right field.

Vernon, Prince George In Coy Cup Finals

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Prince George Mohawks scored a 6-4 victory over Esquimalt All Stars Monday night to eliminate them from the Coy Cup playoffs and go into the finals for the B.C. intermediate hockey championship.

With their win the Mohawks defeated the Victoria district club two games to one in the best-of-three series. Esquimalt won a lopsided 14-5 victory in the first game last Saturday but lost 5-1 Sunday to the interior club.

Mohawks now go against Vernon in the B.C. final starting next weekend. It will be a best-of-three series.

Sharpshooting Dominates Hoop Extravaganza Here

Kelowna 182 Tenaset 86
An amazing display of marksmanship coupled with a strong comeback capped the triple-bill basketball extravaganza at Kelowna secondary school Monday night.

Despite Chuck Jungblom's sharpshooting, Kelowna Old Stylers roared back in the second half to overcome an 11-point deficit and defeat Tenaset's Dal Dagon 182 to 86 in the high-scoring ball game.

Earlier in the evening, as some 250 persons - largest basketball crowd of the season here - watched, a team of Kelowna Old Timers outlast an ex-Teddy Bear squad 16-11 in an abbreviated tilt.

The first contest of the three-star event pitted the Radio-TV Hotshots against the Mounties. Hotshots eked out a contested 11-10 decision over the police-men.

In the main event, Old Stylers were woefully erratic in their shooting during the first quarter and Tenaset ran up a 34-18 lead. Kelowna outscored the all-stars 26-21 in the second quarter to narrow the gap.

Jungblom was deadly every time he had control of the ball in Kelowna's end. He seldom missed any attempt to hit the hoop. His deadly shooting continued to plague Old Stylers in the final half of the game as he potted shot after shot with amazing regularity.

COME ALIVE
But Kelowna's shooting picked up considerably and finally drew even in the third quarter, fell behind again briefly then took the lead and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Bill Martino was Kelowna's big gun and 20 of his 34 points came in the second half. Nudging him for scoring honors was playing-coach Harvey Raymond with 23. Hugh McNeil, who made some sparkling plays, came up with 12 points.

Tenaset's Dal Dagon hit for 16 points in a losing cause. This match was a polishing up for Old Stylers as they prep for the B.C. senior B men's championship tournament at Kelowna secondary school Friday night and Saturday afternoon and evening. Six games in all will be played with four teams participating. Representing the Coast will be an RCAF team from Richmond, Nanaimo, a Kootenay All-Star team and Kelowna round out the participants.

FAMILIAR FACES
High scorers for the Teddy Bears were Mary Weider with five and Anita Stewart with four. For the Old Timers, Hank Tostenson and Bill Treadgold led the scoring with four points each.

Other Old Timers out were Carl Tostenson, Pat Currell, Harold Johnston, George McKay, Bob Hall and Tom Brydon. Other Teddy Bears were Doreen Pinkie, Betty Toole, June Anderson, Tina Toole, Barb Milledge and Gloria Gordon.

Braunstein Has Tough Time Winning Scotch Cup Opener

PERTH, Scotland (CP)—Canada's Terry Braunstein won his first game in the seventh international curling championships Monday night but had a tougher time than expected in defeating Dr. Borge Holmstrom of Sweden 8-4.

In other first-round games in the five-game round-robin tournament, Scotland's Chuck Hay finished strongly to defeat the nervous United States rink skipped by Bud Summerville 11-5 and Switzerland defeated Norway 11-4.

Braunstein's Winnipeg rink, the Canadian champions, put together a pair of wins in the fourth and fifth ends to take control.

Line score of the Canadian game:
Can. 010 220 020 100-8
Sweden 001 002 201 010-4

Fourth game of the series is scheduled for Wednesday night in Calgary with the fifth in Drumheller Saturday night.

Dave Smith, Warren Hicks of Kelowna and Bert Howden shared the Calgary scoring while Ron Leopold, star with the now defunct Calgary Stampede of the Western League, replied for Miners.

The national team is in training here. The best junior skiers from across Canada will be invited to attend the summer school. Jacobs said, and members of the national team will take part along with some of the top coaches in the country.

Montreal Parents Agree With Teacher's Policies

MONTREAL (CP) — Many parents of students taught by an elementary school teacher using Nazi symbolism as a classroom aid say they agree with the teacher's policies.

However, several of them said on weekend interviews they do not know what "SS" stands for.
The teacher, Brother Laine, used a chart ranking students according to ethnic background and disciplinary merit in military terms. The top rank available was "SS" — Hitler's military elite.

The Montreal Roman Catholic School Commission has begun an investigation into the teacher's methods.

While the investigation is in progress, Brother Laine will continue to teach grade 7 students with an average age of 12 or 13. The French-Canadian system has been extremely badly interpreted," he said.

But the brother was making a comparison between the teacher's methods, an influential man who turned bad and another influential man who works for good.

Mrs. H. Ganley, mother of Gilles, said she did not know about the methods used by the teacher before their recent discussion in newspapers but added that she approved of them.

She said she visited the classroom once and did not see anything out of the ordinary.
Her son Gilles said "I would be unhappy if it were decided to stop this."

"I don't know what an 'SS' is exactly, but it was the highest title. Nobody was an 'SS' yet, and anyway it was impossible to become one because it would be necessary to be perfect on all points."

As to Hitler, I know a little but about what he is and what he did. He was an intelligent man, but he had a bad side.
He was a man with good and bad sides."

Thompson Denies Pay Cut Plan
His Original 1963 Intention

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposal made 15 months ago which has been interpreted as advocating a pay cut for Canadian MPs has put Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson in hot water with fellow MPs.

Mr. Thompson said today he wasn't urging a pay cut with his proposal made Oct. 4, 1963, in a letter to Commons Speaker Alan Macdonald, and published last weekend.

He said in an interview he would prefer to see the $6,000 tax-free expense allowance provided for Canadian MPs replaced by the kind of expense system provided for members of the Australian Parliament.

Besides the $6,000 allowance, Canadian MPs receive $12,000 a year and once-weekly free passes on planes or trains to and from their homes.

Mr. Thompson said he would like to see the free travel arrangement continued. The government would pay the transportation company only where the space occupied by the travelling MP displaces a revenue passenger.

The Australian system, studied by Mr. Thompson during a 1963 tour of Australia and New Zealand, is based on Parliament meeting three days a week — Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays — and a half day on Fridays for three weeks a month.

The Canadian Parliament
meets five days a week and at times adds a sixth day near the end of a session. A proposal by an all-party committee now is before the Canadian Commons

New United States Vote Law May End Demonstrations

WASHINGTON (CP) — Machinery to establish simple, universal and compulsory United States voting rights is another assault on racial segregation in the south.

President Lyndon B. Johnson, who announced the long-expected measure Saturday, plainly hopes the legislation will help end right-to-vote congressions which have centred on Selma, Ala.

He is equally confident it will end what in 1964 would have been interpreted as an unfederal intrusion on state rights.

Congress in 1965 without much opposition.

The legislation, as indicated by the president and Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach, will affect elections from the federal level right down to the most local or political elections.

It would end stubborn southern refusal to let the Negro vote. With full equality of voting rights, the 20,000,000 American Negroes will be better able to argue effectively for social and economic equality.

The legislation to be introduced tonight to Congress would do away with all voting qualifications other than age, race, sex, marital requirements and freedom from mental disorder or criminal records. There would be no more of the complicated literacy tests now used in Alabama.

There would be tougher penalties for any effort to stop people voting. Physical intimidation has been used at times on the Negro population of the south.

President Johnson has the advantage of a two-party approach to the situation in Congress, where Republicans have been working on a draft measure as well.

That is why the legislation may slide through Congress quickly, taking account of a strong mood of uneasiness in much of the United States despite indications that southern segregation support also is stiffening. No vote is anticipated on the legislation this week but it will have priority.

Trade Commissioner Urges Concern For Britain

VERNON—Britain as a first-class trading partner is the real reason why people in B.C. should be concerned about what happens 6,000 miles away in Great Britain, Noel S. Belam, principal British Trade Commissioner for B.C., told 60 Vernon Chamber of Commerce members and guests attending a luncheon meeting in the Coldstream Motor Hotel recently.

Guests included Avery Peterson, U.S. Consul-General in Vancouver; J. B. Lander and D. J. Frutkin from B.C. Tree as large as the British Isles. Neither would they appreciate that it is as far from Montreal as London is east-ward; that we can say British knowledge of B.C. might be limited," Mr. Belam said.

On the reverse side of the coin, many Canadians in B.C. have come from Britain, perhaps the majority. They still retain considerable interest in Britain and what goes on there. Many have been on holiday or business visits to London and the sentimental side of the operation. Under hard commercial

OYAMA
The ladies' auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 180 held their monthly meeting in the Oyama Memorial hall on March 2. Mrs. Gordon Edgington was nominated to attend the ladies' auxiliary convention in Victoria in May as the official delegate. Mrs. Gordon Parker, social convener, reported that the coffee urn was finally re-facts, he said B.C. in 1963 shipped to Britain $3 million worth of apples, nearly $12 million worth of fish, $84 million worth of wood and wood products and $48 million worth of minerals and metals—at total of $145,000,000.

NEED BRITAIN
"Britain takes 35 per cent of Canadian export of minerals and metals and over 35 per cent of forest product exports. Would anyone dispute the fact you need Britain in order to keep B.C. as prosperous as she is?" said Mr. Belam.

In 1963 B.C. imported through B.C. ports, $41 million worth of goods from Britain. Others came from Britain through eastern Canadian ports, but the answer is there for all to see—$145 million against $47 million and if for a second we look at the all-Canadian picture, it is not very different. Exports to Britain in 1964 over $1,300 million compared with imports from Britain of $560 million.

"Can we afford to continue to run huge deficits with countries when we are clearly not getting the surplus we should with other countries? The short answer is no. In the case of Canada, our deficit on trade with you represented last year half our total world trade deficit and well over one third our deficit on current account. Such a situation cannot go on."

OLD IMAGE

"To many, Britain is the land of history, quaint customs, Victorian, poor plumbing and no central heating. We encourage people to think of thatched cottages and beel-eaters. I do not think you could encourage tourists to look at the Cavendish Laboratory in Cambridge where Rutherford split the atom at the turn of the century, nor at the latest atomic power station.

"To encourage tourists you must publicize those things which appeal to tourists. The result however is that we have been hoist with our own petard. Do not however imagine that we are all archaic."

"For example the world and the gross value of our agricultural production exceeds per annum those of Australia and New Zealand combined. We are the world's largest exporter of agricultural tractors, of commercial road vehicles, of radio-isotopes, and of washing machines."

He said Canada is one of the most difficult markets in which to sell and can be also a frustrating one.

"You can build up excellent business here and then find barriers erected against you. This is a long story and one which we are discussing with Ottawa. It is not just a case of British salesmen not being with it any more. We would certainly like to sell more here and undoubtedly we can."

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Hio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Hio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Rutland Women Set Plans For Community Bazaar

RUTLAND—Plans for a Community Bazaar were discussed at the recent monthly meeting of the Rutland Women's Institute held in Centennial park hall. Mrs. J. F. Caljow presided. Representatives of various district women's organizations in the district attended. They considered the Institute's suggestion for the proposed bazaar. It was unanimously decided to hold the bazaar on Wednesday, April 21, in the Parish Hall of St. Theresa's church, and the entire net proceeds to be divided equally between the organizations participating. The bazaar will last from 2 to 9 p.m.

Further details will be worked out at a committee meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Gracie.

In response to a letter from the Rutland Park Society the Institute agreed to co-operate in the annual May Day celebrations.

The meeting also made plans to hold a rummage sale in the Centennial Park hall on Wednesday, March 31.

The meeting voted $10 for each of the two families that had lost their homes and belongings in recent fires.

A letter was read from Mrs. Margery Palmer, president of the B.C. Women's Institute in regard to the information of a Junior W.I. in Rutland. Mrs. Palmer was highly enthusiastic about the idea and wished the Rutland Institute every success.

At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served by Mrs. A. W. Gray and a social half hour followed.

Rutland Schools Hold Open House

RUTLAND—Open House was observed at all the Rutland elementary schools recently.

Some 500 parents were on hand at the central Rutland schools, where each class had a display in their room, and took art, and science experimental displays in the halls.

The teachers and principal, Charles Hopper, assistant principal Murray Joyce, were on hand to meet the visitors.

There were some 150 parents and other interested persons in attendance at the West Rutland school where A. J. Jones is the principal.

At the Black Mountain school where Mrs. Elva J. Clark is the teacher, there was a good attendance of parents, for a school with only 18 pupils. Normal school routine work was carried on during the visit.

Winfield School Combines Open House, Activity Room Fete

WINFIELD — Some 200 parents and friends attended Open House at the Winfield Elementary School recently. There was a full house for the opening of the new Activity room.

Attending opening ceremonies were A. F. G. Drake, retiring building superintendent of School District No. 23. He gave the key of the room to Leo Douillard of Douillard Construction who built the addition. Mr. Douillard spoke on the growth of the district then gave the key to Art G. Pollard, school trustee. Mr. Pollard told of the two referendums to raise the money to build the addition. He also said Mr. Drake was retiring in June and then declared the new room open and gave the key to James Bertog, principal of the Winfield elementary school.

Also at the opening was William Lodge who was janitor of the school for 25 years retiring in 1954. He answered questions on the early history of the school. It was his 83rd Birthday and the audience sang "Happy Birthday."

The people then toured the school.
